Subject: EOCCG Update 8: Planned Truck Demonstration

Good evening,

The crowd number remains similar to yesterday. Ottawa Police were able to survey the area by drone and obtained a total number of 481 vehicles in the downtown core. The crowd on foot remained consistently around 100 people on Wellington Street throughout the day. Very few people are actually going onto Parliament Hill property.

While the perimeter in the downtown core remains the same, the main organizers are cooperating with Police and are making efforts to open a lane on Kent and one eastbound lane on Sir John A. MacDonald. This should occur overnight. The Portage and Alexandra Bridges remain closed, MacDonald Cartier, Chaudière and Champlain Bridges are open.

The weekend outlook is starting to take shape. There is intelligence to suggest a large convoy from Quebec City, and smaller groups from elsewhere in the Province, including areas surrounding Ottawa. There are planned counter-protests advertised to take place at Confederation Park as well at City Hall, to oppose the mandate of the convoy and the presence of the convoy in our City. The information is still being validated, but the suggestion is we may see similar crowd and vehicle numbers to those seen last weekend.

Roads services report that they are fully staffed and with full complement of equipment in preparation for tonight's winter weather. The forecast has favorably changed, with a total accumulation of snow overnight reduced to 5-7cm.

There are no new service interruptions since today's PSA.

We will continue to update as the situation develops.
